

Birds, Fish, Watersheds and Native Plants

A Personal Journey of Advocacy for the Delaware Bay with Vince Smith

Monday, September 13, 7-8:30pm

Join us for this free Virtual Workshop as part of our 'Birds, Brews, and Books' Native Plant Event

One of the best ways to protect our watersheds, enhance biodiversity and reduce our carbon footprint is to convert our yards to a more native landscape. This presentation will demonstrate the process of making that conversion and why it is so important.

Vincent Smith is President of Valley Forge Audubon Society. He started his career as an Environmental Educator at the Charlestown Nature Center and the Green Lane Reservoir Park. He is presently employed at the Montgomery County Offices of Public Health with the Division of Water Quality.
